-- The MAILING DATE of this communication appears on the cover sheet with the correspondence address --

Period for Reply

A SHORTENED STATUTORY PERIOD FOR REPLY IS SET TO EXPIRE 3 MONTH(S) FROM THE MAILING DATE OF THIS COMMUNICATION.

- Extensions of time may be available under the provisions of 37 CFR 1.136(a). In no event, however, may a reply be timely filed after SIX (6) MONTHS from the mailing date of this communication.
- If the period for reply specified above is less than thirty (30) days, a reply within the statutory minimum of thirty (30) days will be considered timely.
- If NO period for reply is specified above, the maximum statutory period will apply and will expire SIX (6) MONTHS from the mailing date of this communication.
- Failure to reply within the set or extended period for reply will, by statute, cause the application to become ABANDONED (35 U.S.C. § 133). Any reply received by the Office later than three months after the mailing date of this communication, even if timely filed, may reduce any earned patent term adjustment. See 37 CFR 1.704(b).

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

Claims 1-6 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Hegde.

See Fig. 1b of Hegde showing a frustoconical center post 40 and a radiating assembly with fins that extends outside the conical heat spreader 40 and contacts the conical side and top surfaces. Note fan 70 shown in Fig. 8, for example. Regarding claim 3, note aperture 14a that receives the mounting bolt.

Regarding claims 5 and 6, note lines 36-44 of column 8 of Hegde.

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 1 and 3 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as anticipated by or, in the alternative, under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as obvious over Cho et al.

Note in particular the Fig. 4 embodiment in which fins 30' extend from the frustoconical post 40'. Note the description of first and second surfaces described in lines 18-26 of column 2, corresponding to the claimed "bottom" and "top" surfaces. A fan is not explicitly shown, but is considered to be implicitly disclosed (see the above-cited segment of column 2). Even assuming arguendo that a fan is not implicitly disclosed within the teachings of Cho et al., the statement that a rotary heat sink fan is "to be attached thereon" is considered ample motivation to provide such a fan.

The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure.

The remaining references show various radial heat sink designs for radial/axial fans.
